FOREWORD

This is Brookfield High School. It is a modern school, and the people within are friendly and interesting. We, the 1968 Echo Staff, will introduce you to these people through a new type of layout design called Mondrian. It is a truly new look that has enabled us to bring you more and better coverage. Are you ready? Then step this way . . .

Top brass maintain

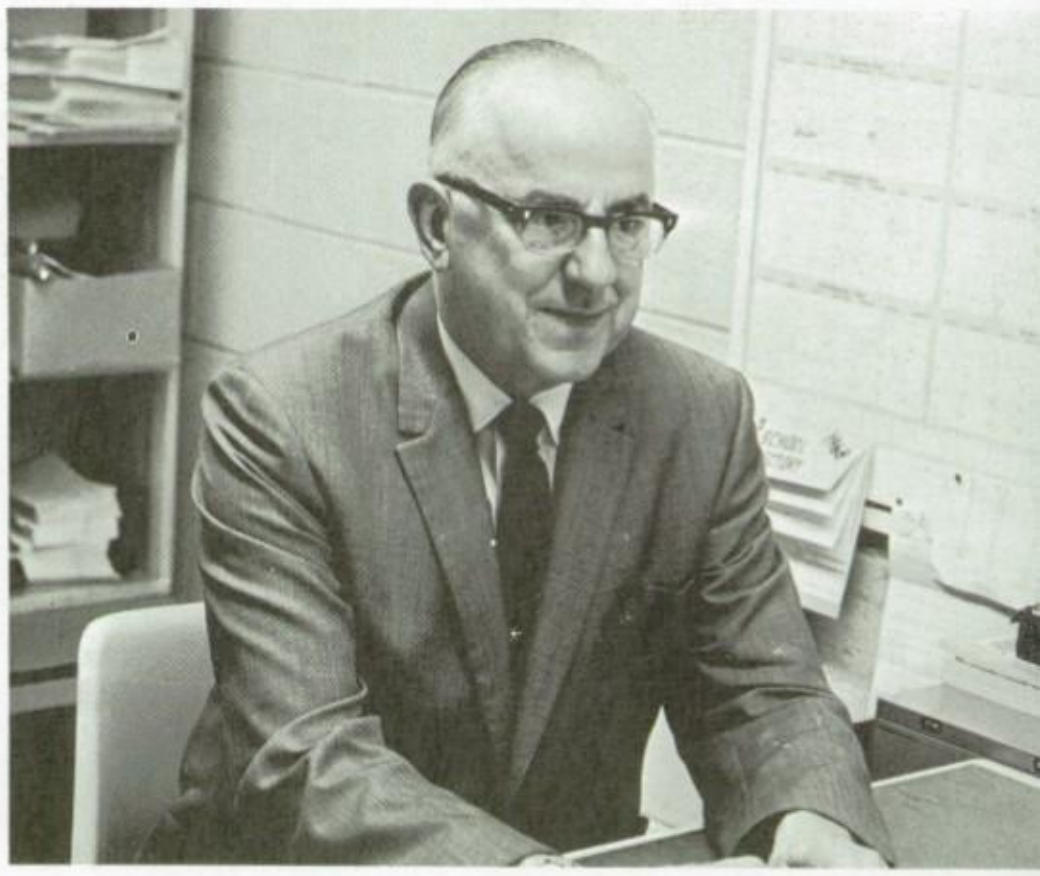
John L. Sittig is Brookfield's newly acquired superintendent of schools. Though he has been here only a short time, he has initiated several new programs into the school system. He is well liked by the students for his ever-present sense of humor and highly admired by the teachers for his disciplinary tactics. There is no doubt that Mr. Sittig's youthful ideas are a welcome addition to Brookfield.

top notch' education at Brookfield

HAROLD J. LAYMAN

Harold J. Layman, high school principal, keeps school life running smoothly. Though he is extremely busy, he still finds time to help students with their individual problems. His smiling face can be seen at many after-school activities. Indeed, Mr. Layman's success can be attributed to the fact that he enjoys working with students.

Brass are responsible for student guidance and discipline problems



Mr. Anthony Pintar (bottom), new to the school this year, has successfully taken on the position of administrative assistant. Mr. Charles Johnson (top), senior high counselor, helps students choose and plan their careers.

FRANK STEFANOVSKY

Frank Stefanovsky, junior high school principal, arouses many students' minds and encourages them to go on to higher learning.

MISS GLADYS EVANS

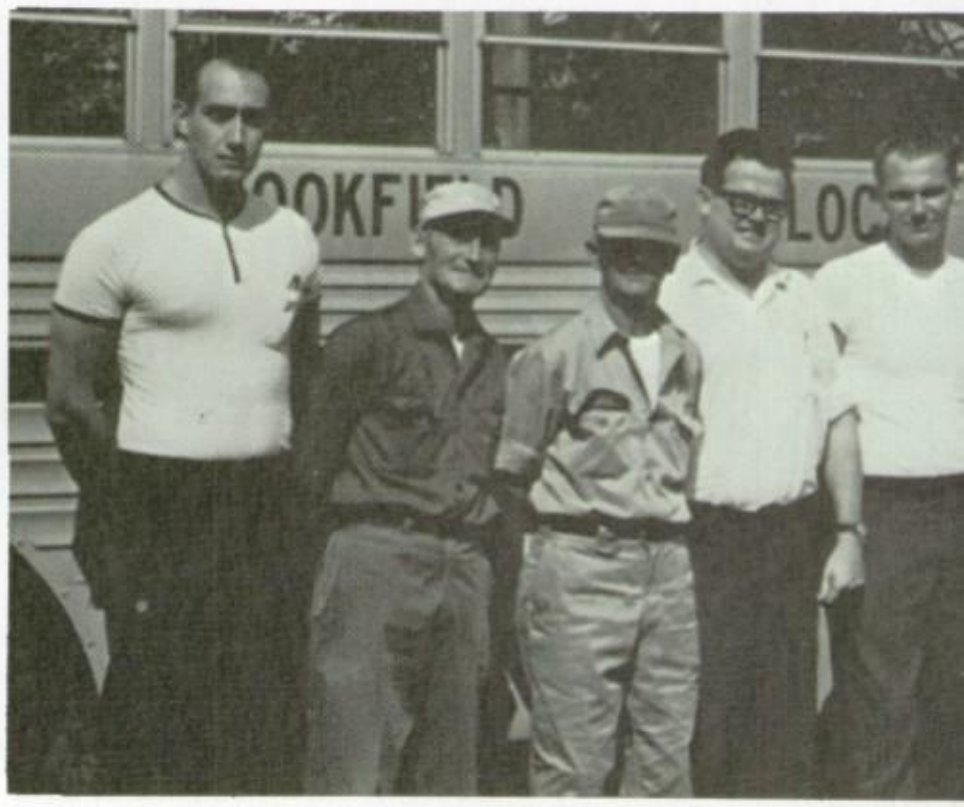
Miss Gladys Evans, junior high guidance counselor, guides students through their intermediate years.

Discipline and guidance are essential

Mrs. Isabel Hall (right) serves capably as secretary to John L. Sittig. Miss Ruth Davis (below) is the nurse for all schools in Brookfield Twp. The board of education for this school year included Ray Davies, seated, and Michael Kuzel, Dr. Albert Luchette, Samuel Ferrara, Joseph Goncz, Attorney James O'Brien, and Harold Cooper. Kuzel and O'Brien were elected in November to replace Davies and Cooper.

There is more than what meets the eye to running a school

Mrs. Ruth Brown (top left), junior high secretary, is a person of extreme efficiency with a most helpful nature. Serving in the newly created post of assistant high school secretary is Mrs. Judy Burdette (above). Now in her eleventh year as senior high secretary is Mrs. Josephine Kuzel (left).



No school system can be complete without its cooks, custodians, and bus drivers—the "unsung heroes" of a smooth functioning school plant. Pausing before the daily influx of hungry but hard to please teenagers are the senior high cooks (top left)—Mrs. Betty Craig, Mrs. Lena Marino, supervisor; and Mrs. Katherine Fonagy. Though the students rarely appreciate their efforts and constantly make unnecessary work, the senior high custodial staff (top right) is pleasant and hard-working. They include Mike Torma and Mrs. Agnes Lewis. Robert Gibson, now a member of the maintenance staff, was replaced by Lucien Marino. Manning the "yellow chargers", the bus drivers (center) are Gene Dellarco, Albert Meeker, Philip Stieb, Charles Earnhart, John Pelles, George Economides, Mrs. Bessie Houston, Mrs. Dorothy Bartek, David Madasz, Vern Clark, supervisor; and Isaac Worley.

Brookfield's junior high school boasts of two very efficient noncertified staffs. Always smiling and helpful, the custodians (bottom right) are Mrs. Jessie Durst, Mrs. Elizabeth Palumbo, Mrs. Annie Mishorich, Carl Mesmer, and Thomas Williams. Under the supervision of Mrs. Helene Reinhart, the cafeteria workers (bottom left) include Mrs. Dorothy Reagle, Mrs. Reinhart, Mrs. Pauline Neral, Mrs. Mary Dellarco, and Mrs. Mary Torok.

Cooks, custodians,
and bus drivers to you we shall be forever grateful

Math challenges intellectuals

In twentieth century America mathematics is a subject vital not only in a school's curriculum but also to technological advancement. Teaching advanced math, Algebra II, and trigonometry is Charles Toda (top). Mr. Toda also serves as athletic director. Robert Ciotola (bottom) teaches Modern Algebra II and plane and solid geometry.

Handling all foreign language instruction in both the junior and senior high schools are Mrs. Pamela Williams (left), who teaches French I and Spanish I and II, and Mrs. Adeline Treftz (below), teaching Latin I and II and French II.

Brass strive to enlighten students' minds through classroom discussions

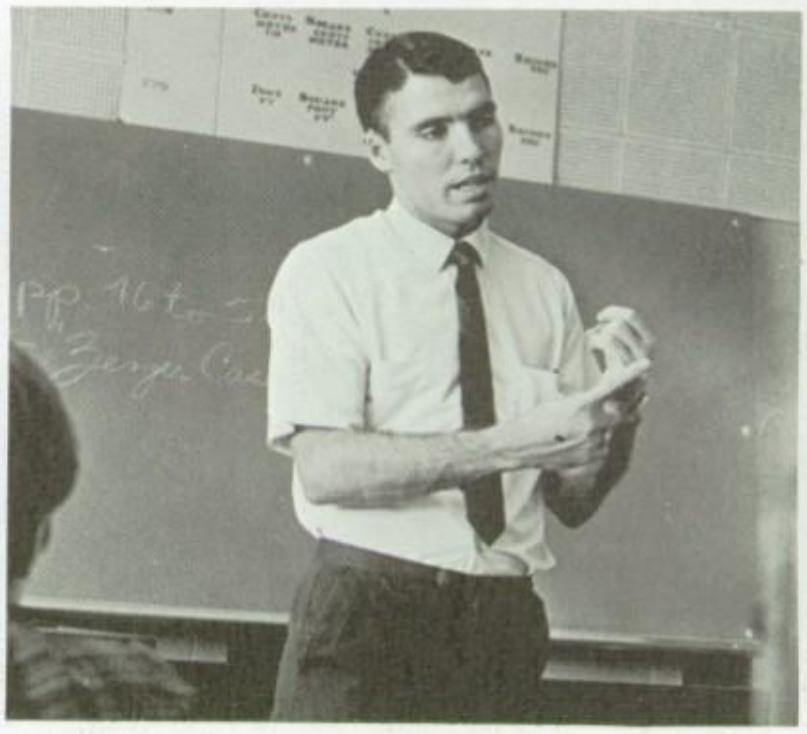
The brass supervise

Providing practical and up-to-date instruction and methods in the skills of homemaking and sewing is an important function of a good high school. Brookfield is no exception. Both home economics teachers have been with the Brookfield Schools for many years. Mrs. Harriett Robinson (right) teaches sewing in grades 9-12 while Mrs. Edna Tsui (below) instructs homemaking classes for grades 9-12.

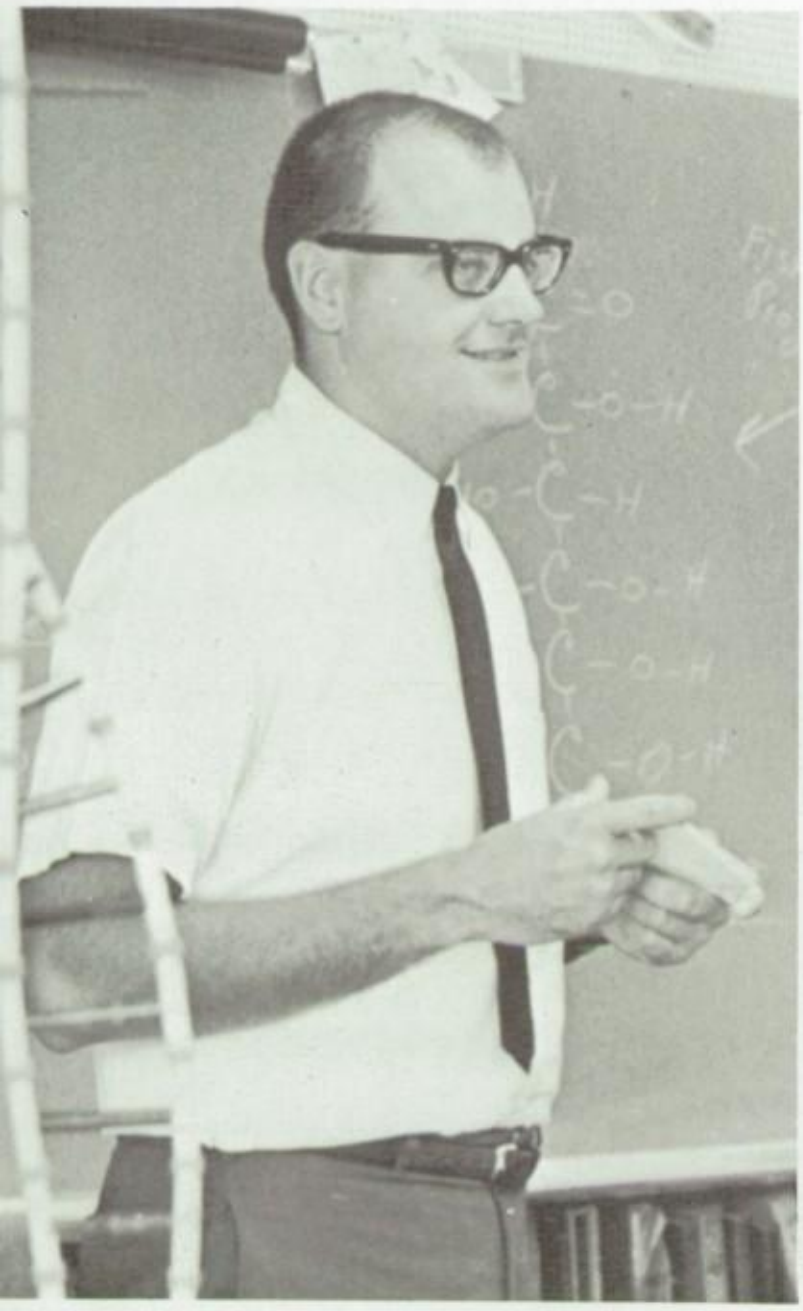
many extra-curricular activities

A comprehensive industrial arts program is a must for a well-rounded curriculum. Though it becomes increasingly difficult to secure qualified industrial arts teachers, BHS is fortunate to have Patrick Zanolli (left) who teaches Shop II-IV and engineering drawing. To compensate for the lack of a certified shop teacher, courses in sociology and geography were added this year. They are taught by Frank Schiraldi (top) who also teaches world history.

A person always remembers the brass who influenced his life



Jack Arvin (top), formerly from West Virginia, is a teacher of Speech I and II and General English IV. New to the Brookfield Schools this year is Richard Partezana (right), who teaches biology.



A familiar face in the biology lab is Edward McCullough (left). Mr. McCullough teaches biology and advanced biology and supervises the land laboratory located on the site of the former Brookfield Radar Base. Also new to the Brookfield School District is John Blasko (below), a former teacher at Lakeview High School. Mr. Blasko teaches chemistry and physics.

English department allows students c

After having done her student teaching in Brookfield and serving as a reading teacher in the junior high during the second semester of last year, Mrs. Willa O'Neill (below) now teaches General English II and III. Mrs. Dorothy Drummond (right), formerly senior English teacher, now teaches Academic and General English II. Mrs. Drummond is also head of the English department and dean of girls.

Teaching Academic and General English IV is Mrs. Norma Kirsch (left). Mrs. Kirsch formerly taught classes in general English only. In addition to being advisor to the school yearbook and newspaper, the Echo and the Hilltopper, Miss Betty Jo Knival (below) also teaches Academic and General English III and journalism.

Our government, economic conditions, and heritage are relayed in social studies

After acting as full-time audio visual director for the Brookfield Schools, Milrod Lunich (below) now serves in that capacity on a part-time basis and teaches economics. Economics is a required one-semester subject for all seniors.

Music and physical education

are instrumental for skills

Almost a landmark around the Brookfield Schools is "The Boss" himself, Robert Furney (below). Mr. Furney is responsible for directing three bands—the senior high band, the junior high band, and the cadet band. New to the Brookfield Schools this year is a BHS alumnus, Rodney Toth (bottom) who directs the high school choir, the girls' chorus, and the junior high chorus.

Teachers . . .

Supervising the commercial department and keeping many of the school's various financial accounts is the responsibility of John Hanrahan (top). Mr. Hanrahan also teaches bookkeeping, office practice, and sales and business law. Mrs. Doris Davis (bottom) instructs classes in business English and Typing I.

school students in business skills

Completing the staff of the commercial department is Richard Guerriero (below) who teaches Stenography I and II, Typing II, and Bookkeeping I. Keeping "tabs" on several thousand volumes and many periodicals is the special task of Mrs. Martha Caswell (bottom), senior high librarian.

Preparing students for higher educatio

Junior high curriculum includes

1969 ECHO staff members.

The 1968 ECHO staff works diligently under the supervision of Miss Kni-val to bring the students an ECHO they can be proud to own. Not only must each member fulfill the staff position to which he has been assigned, but also he must solicit ads from the businesses in the valley in order to meet publishing costs. If on occasion, a particular staff member appears to be "all in a dither," one can bet that he is going around in circles trying to meet his section deadline. But don't look so glum! Echo staffing isn't all work and no play.

By incorporating many interesting feature articles and outstanding student compositions from the English classes along with the latest school news into this year's HILLTOPPER, the HILLTOPPER staff has evoked praise from many authorized sources. New ideas are constantly being acquired through the staff's correspondence with high school and college newspapers across the country. The HILLTOPPER is a biweekly school newspaper published on the offset press. The HILLTOPPER and ECHO staffs have jointly purchased a typewriter that has made the HILLTOPPER pleasing to the eye! The HILLTOPPER staff works hard to meet deadlines and bring the public an interesting paper, but there are also times for fun.

Quill and Scroll cites achievement

MISS KNIVAL, journalism advisor

Brookfield's Quill and Scroll is an exhilarating unit of the International Honor Society for High School Journalists. At the National Honor Society Banquet in the spring, the members of both the Echo and Hilltopper staffs are rewarded with memberships to the Quill and Scroll for the work they have afforded to the school publications.

LYNNELL JONES, exchange editor; MONICA OPPLE, editorial writer; and SUE MUNNELL, feature editor.

The senior members of the Echo and Hilltopper staffs make up the Quill and Scroll.

Beta members boast of attainment

The National Beta Club is an organization of high school students who have shown good mentality and character, commendable attitudes, and creditable achievements. In order for a student to become a member of the Brookfield chapter, he must be designated as worthy of special recognition because of outstanding attainment and promise.

Membership in the junior high Student Council provides leadership for the future. The members of this junior group are pictured at the left.

The most practical method of helping students to understand complex and unfamiliar ideas is by the use of educational films. The boys in the audio-visual department, top right, assist Mr. Milrod Lunich in providing this service by setting up projectors, microphones, tape recorders, and record players.

Many of Brookfield's Future Nurses (bottom) work after school one day each week at Sharon General Hospital in a volunteer program. Striving to bring together those young people who are interested in careers in nursing and related fields is the purpose of the FNA. Miss Ruth Davis, school nurse, advises this group.

Club membership fosters leadership

Each year all senior members and some lucky junior members of the FTA have the privilege of practice teaching for an entire day. The FTA, sponsored by Mrs. Harriett Robinson, also held several other activities throughout the year.

FTA members practice teaching

Those girls who are interested in promoting the joys of homemaking and emphasizing the importance of a good home and family life are members of the FHA. Under the sponsorship of Mrs. Edna Tsui, the FHA held several activities, including a field trip and banquet, for the benefit of its members.

The actors, actresses, and stage hands who added most to the junior and senior class plays comprise the Thespians. Newly elected aspirants to this group must undergo a rigid pre-induction period before they can actually become members. The purpose of this organization is to acquaint better those students who are interested in the dramatic arts.

Thespians, Future Homemakers are active

The Pep Club, led by our vivacious cheerleaders, creates an enthusiastic spirit among the student body at football and basketball games. It does this by promoting good sportsmanship and encouraging the students to follow athletic events closely.

Pep Club arouses spirit

Latin Club visits Latin festival

The Latin Club, sponsored by Mrs. Adeline Treftz, traveled to Pittsburgh to attend the Latin Festival at the Buhl Planetarium where they looked over the exhibits of Latin students in the Pittsburgh area and attended the sky show.

Spanish, French Clubs learn customs

Bake sales and car washes are two of the methods the French Club (top) is using to finance its trip to Montreal. The French Club, a very active organization, is sponsored by Mrs. Treftz also.

The Spanish Club, (right) sponsored by Mrs. Pamela Williams, held a delightful Halloween party along with several other activities throughout the year. All three language clubs combined forces in the spring for an annual banquet at Schuster's Steakhouse.

Clubs enjoy various activities

To provide students with an incentive for entering the business world as a profession is the main purpose of the Commercial Club (left). This organization, under the direction of Mrs. Doris Davis, visits a business college annually and offers a slate of other social activities for the enjoyment of its members.

Practical experience in picture-taking is acquired by the members of the Photography Club through the services they perform for the school. The Photography Club (middle) is responsible for the "Warrior of the Week" display, the HILLTOPPER pictures, and the "wedding" photos for the Sadie Hawkins Dance. Mr. Patrick Zanolli advises the group.

Taking care of overdue books, arranging the book shelves, and helping other students find good reference materials are the duties of the librarians. The Library Club, (bottom) under the sponsorship of Mrs. Martha Caswell, consists of those members who take library science for credit and those non-credit students who enjoy working in the library in their spare time.

Student Council, NHS show leadership

The National Honor Society (top) is a highly respected group of scholars selected from the top 5% of the junior class and the top 15% of the senior class on the basis of scholarship, leadership, service, and character. The NHS members, advised by Mrs. Dorothy Drummond, conduct the tapping assembly in February, attend the county-wide initiation, and sponsor the NHS Banquet in May. The ice cream sales during lunch enable the society to award a $200 scholarship to a worthy senior and to buy items the school needs.

Each class elects representatives from its numbers to serve on the Student Council. This organization gives the student body a chance to express its opinions on school policy and to assume responsibility for a progressive school program. The Student Council is an active group in that it sponsors a dance and a movie for the student body, charters buses to away games, provides refreshments for the basketball teams after home games, sponsors Teacher Appreciation Day, and organizes the Homecoming activities each fall.

Young musicians learn fundamentals

The junior high bands play for assemblies and present concerts for the musical appreciation of the community. The Cadet Band again upheld its reputation for excellency in performance by receiving a first place rating in district contest. Mr. Joseph Parlink directs the seventh grade band (top), and Mr. Robert Furney directs the Cadet Band (bottom).

1968 "Golden Girl" Peggy Powell and her two assistants Karen Bruce and Joyce Reinhart led the marching band in parades and during the football season. Each half-time show featured a number by the lively dancing and twirling majorette line. All the majorettes play instruments in the band during concert season. This year the majorettes continued to perform at basketball games during half-time.

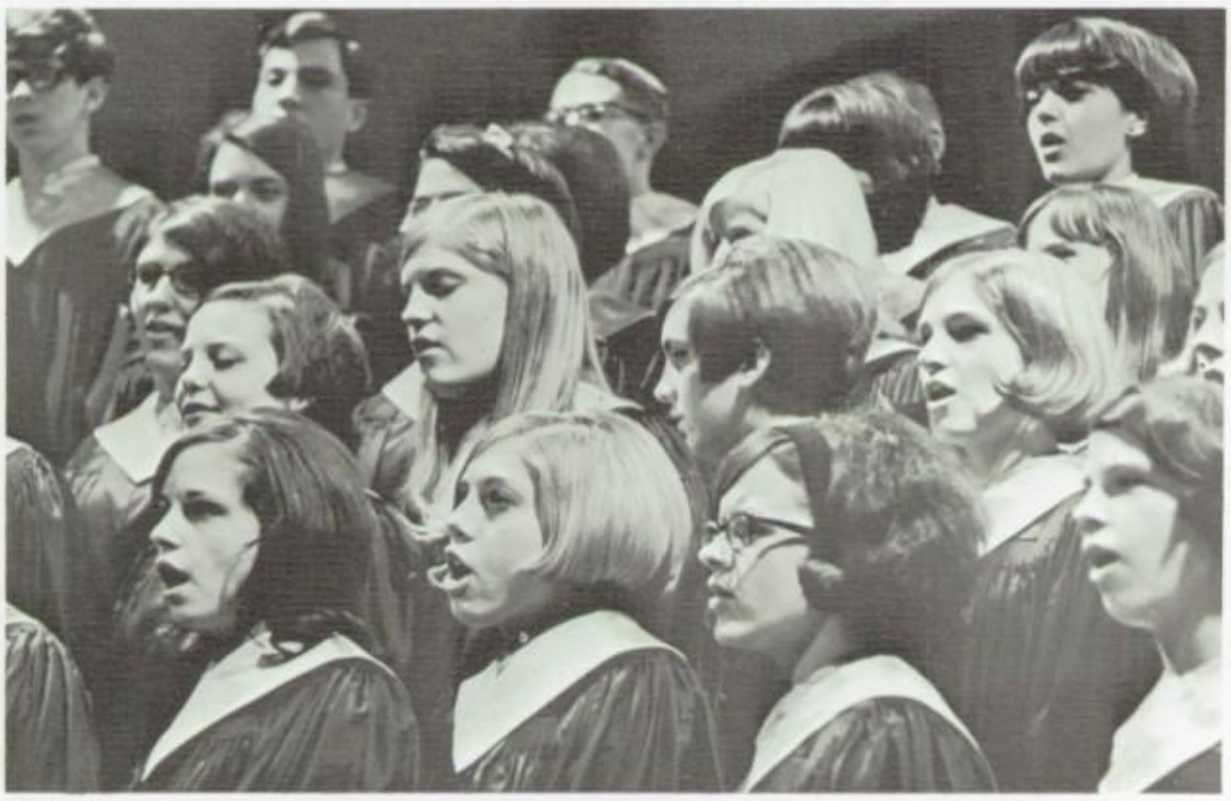
"Hard work pays off." This is the motto of the band members who strive each year for honors in district and state contest. Second place is not good enough for any Brookfield band. They want to be "Number 1" and will not settle for less. Instrumental music knows many phases at Brookfield. First comes the marching band which gives halftime shows at all the football games and participates in parades and dedications. Then there are the concert and contest bands that give performances for the musical enjoyment of the community. The pep band performs at pep rallies and at basketball games to cheer the team to victory. Also, a number of members are active in ensembles.

Band enjoys busy but interesting school year

Members of the junior high chorus (top) are selected from grade nine. Under the direction of Rodney Toth, the chorus presented a Winter Festival of Music and a musical comedy entitled "So This Is Paris." They also participated in the Spring Festival and in the junior high choir competition in May.

The junior high majorettes (bottom) were chosen by Robert Furney from grades eight and nine. The girls have been practicing diligently for parades and the Spring Festival in which they performed.

WARRIORS, Go,



Members of the senior high mixed chorus (above) are chosen from grades ten, eleven, and twelve on the basis of ability. Under the direction of Rodney Toth, the chorus presented Christmas, Veterans' Day, and Thanksgiving Day assemblies to both the junior and senior high schools. The chorus also participated in the Spring Festival and in district choir competition in May.

Nancy Couts, Melvin Chalker, and Diane Madasz were chosen to be Brookfield's representatives to the Ohio Youth Choir. Last summer the choir sang at the Ohio State Fair and gave a special performance for the governor. Diane plans to tour Europe this summer with other members of the choir.

Choruses achieve excellence in performance

The girls' chorus (below), under the direction of Rodney Toth, performed for many assemblies throughout the school year. Their pleasing harmony brought honors to the school during the spring contest.

Dogpatch citizens swing at BHS

Poor Sadie Hawkins just could not get her man until Sadie Hawkins' Day was proclaimed in Dogpatch. Brookfield citizens of Dogpatch relived this day at the annual Sadie Hawkins Dance. A "style" show was held, and the "best dressed" couple was awarded a prize. Then all took part in the "Grand March" to get their heart strings tied up by "Marryin' Sam."

Helen Keller story portrayed by seniors

JANIE AIKINS and DIANE MADASZ

DIANE MADASZ and DEBBIE SARTORI

The senior class presented a stirring dramatization of "The Miracle Worker" December 15 and 16, 1967. The many fans who attended the performances will never forget the skill with which these young people enacted the turbulent and emotion-packed scenes.

"The Miracle Worker" is the story of Helen Keller—a blind, deaf mute girl who is trapped in her own secret world. She is bitter, violent, spoiled, and at first, almost animal-like. Helen comes under the care and tutelage of Annie Sullivan, an Irish girl who had been born blind herself and who is reluctantly hired by the agonized parents of the unfortunate little girl. Annie is the only person who realizes that Helen has a mind worth rescuing from this deep, dark silence, and her eventual success warms the hearts of all involved.

'An Arabian Night' charmed visitors

The mystical, enchanting world of "An Arabian Night" was an experience the 300 attendants at the 1967 prom will never forget. Mike Roncone and "The Napoleonic Wars" provided the music for this thrilling adventure. A long journey through the exotic land of make-believe heartened the appetites of all those present, and no sight could have been more welcome than the extravagant buffet awaiting these weary travelers. But all good things come to an end, and the "wee small" hours of the morning brought many reluctant farewells.

Commencement highlights each school year

The beginning and the end—commencement—is met with mixed feelings. Some are happy to be at last on their own. Others cherish the memories of their past school days and long to experience them once again.

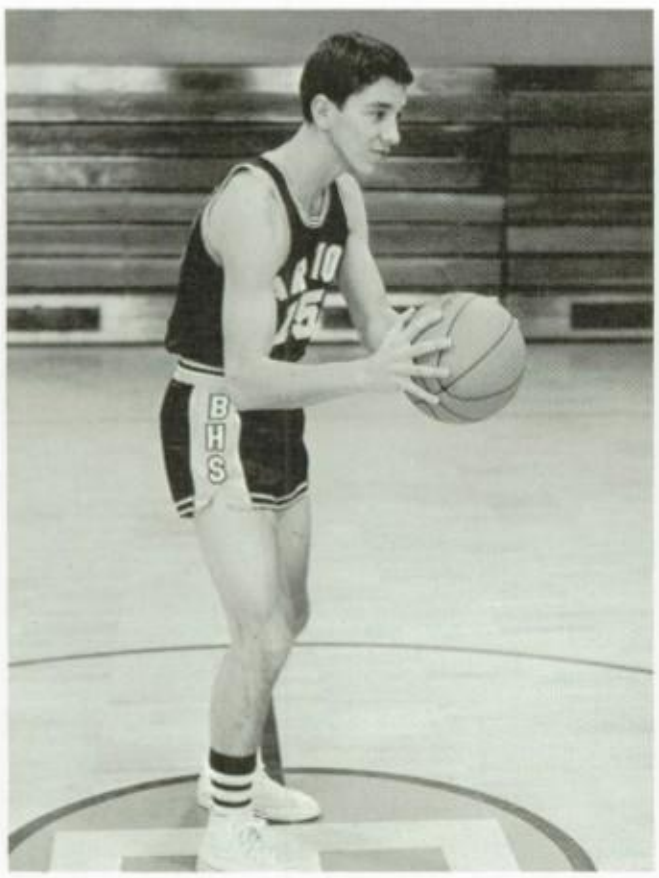
Brookfield Junior Varsity posted a 6-12 record.

Managers Steve Crisan and Pat McDowell

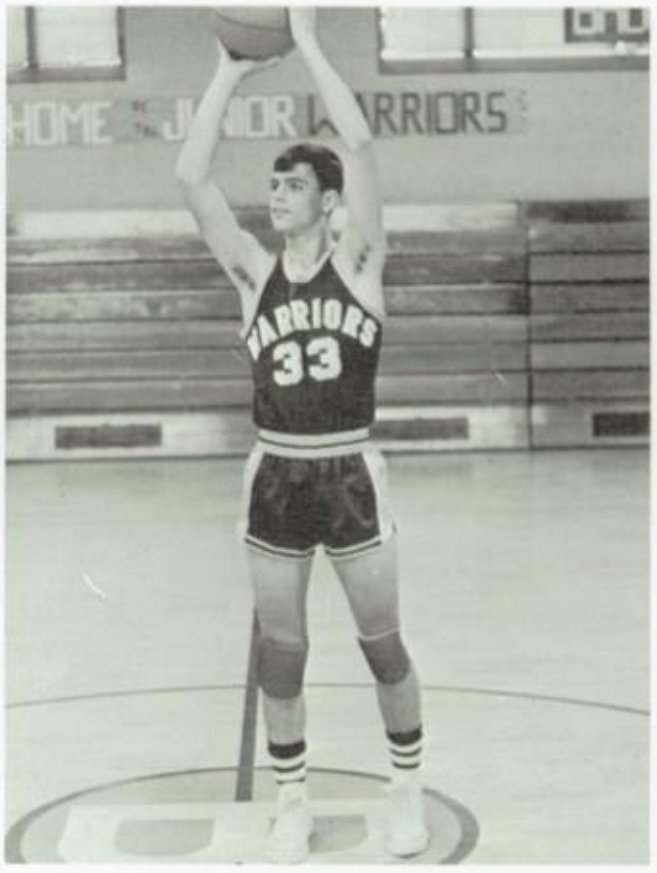
JV Coach "BRUTZ" LUNICH

Seniors show the way



RANDY BRENNER, the great senior playmaker, was largely responsible for the team's successful season. Randy always kept the boys under tight reins. Benner was second in scoring with 318 points, and his quick ball-handling contributed a team high of 54 assists and 28 steals. Brenner shot 43% over the regular season.

to victory



RON RESCEK, senior guard, excelled from the field and foul line, making 42% and 73% of his shots respectively. Rescek finished third in scoring during the regular season, canning 232 points. Defensively Ron chipped in with 26 steals and 107 rebounds.

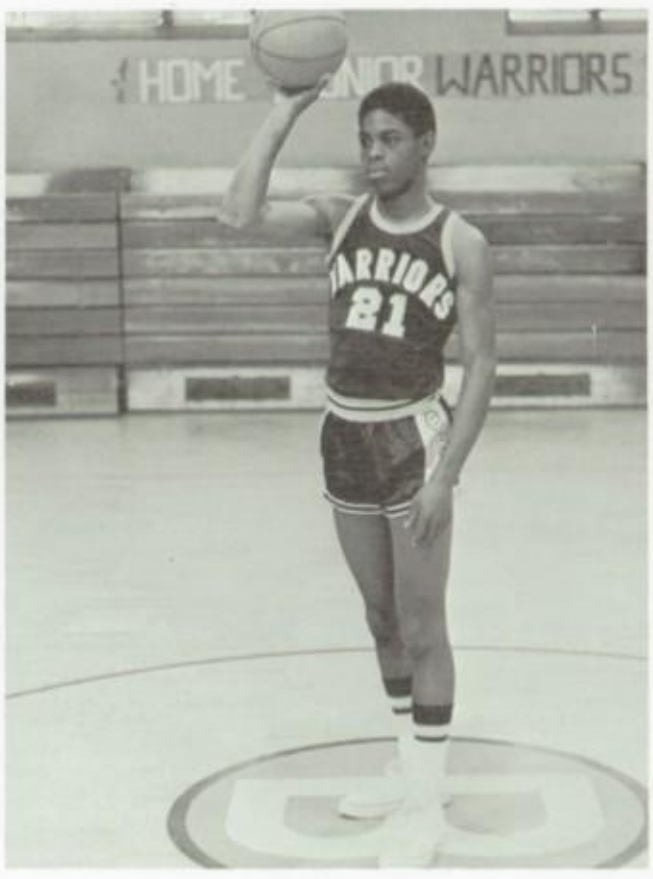
Offense averages

PAUL RUST, senior forward, finished regular season play as the Warriors' high scorer with 333 points, an average of 18.5 points per game. Rust shot a sizzling 44% in the 18 games, making 136 out of his 315 shots. Defensively Paul contributed 120 rebounds and a team high of 39 steals.

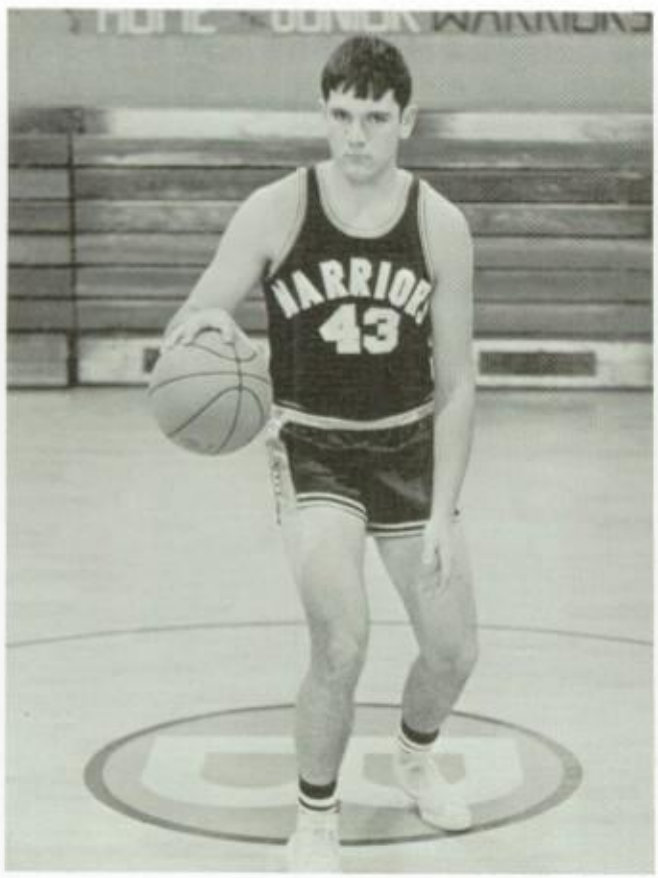
fantastic 79 points per game

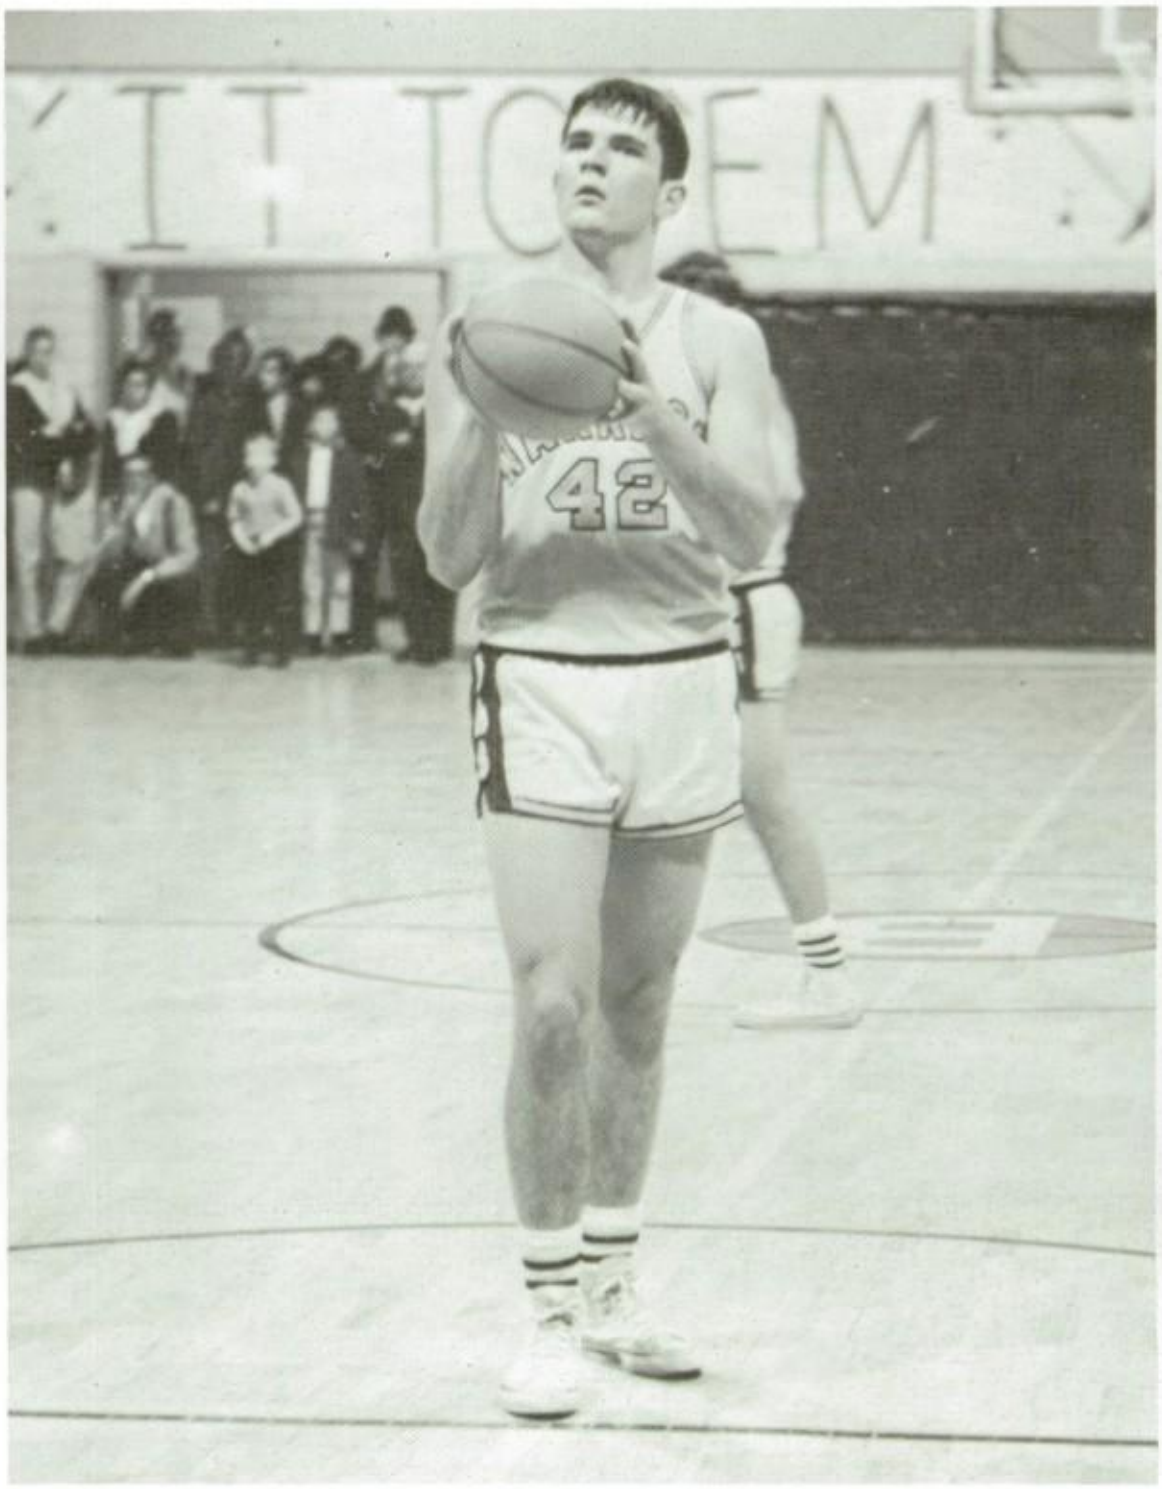
DALE WARD, the junior forward, was the big man on the boards for the Warriors as he led the team by pulling down 245 rebounds.

Offensively Dale contributed 187 points hitting on 77 of his 176 shots good for 43%. Dale also handed out 25 assists.



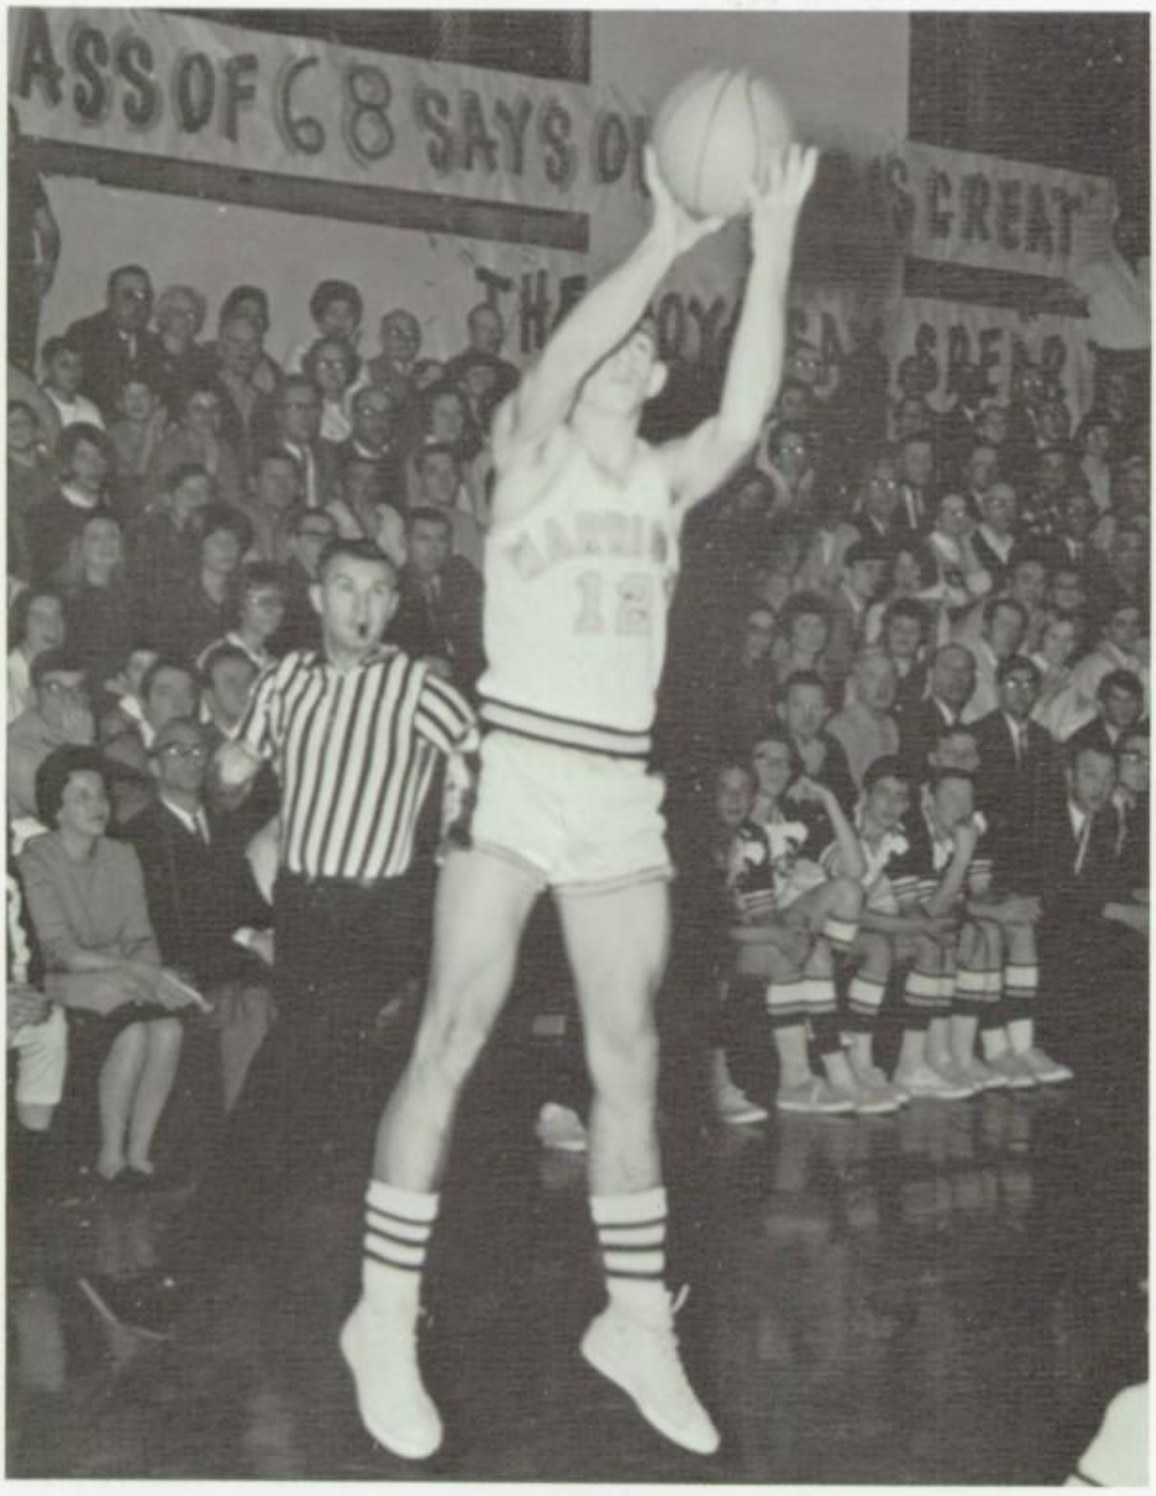
Georges most successful coach

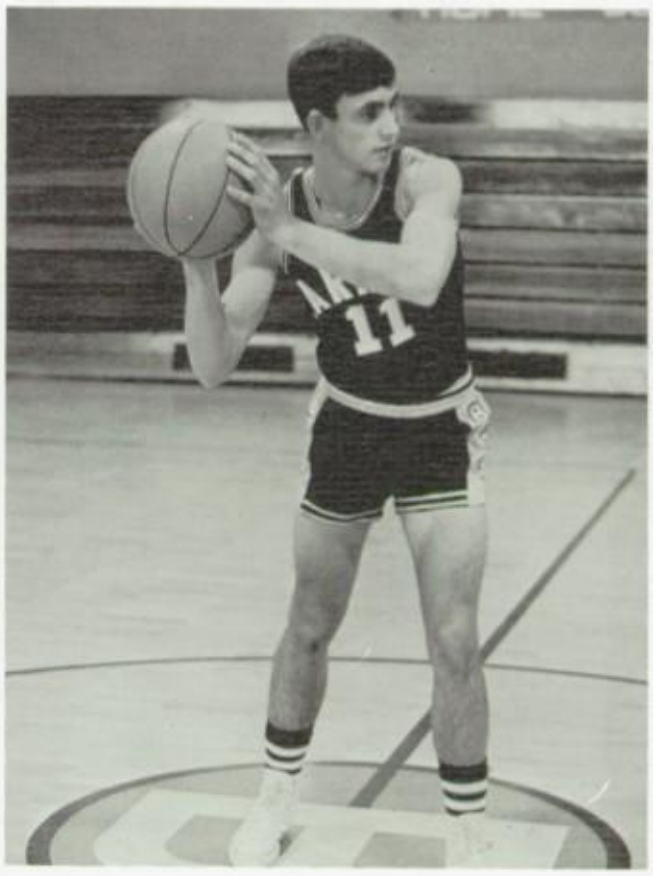




CHUCK GOODRICK, the tall sophomore, started at center and was a happy surprise all around as he contributed greatly to the Warrior offensive. Chuck poured 216 points through the hoops as he shot at a 43% clip. Goodrick was also a terror on the boards as he grabbed 212 rebounds.

in Brookfield history

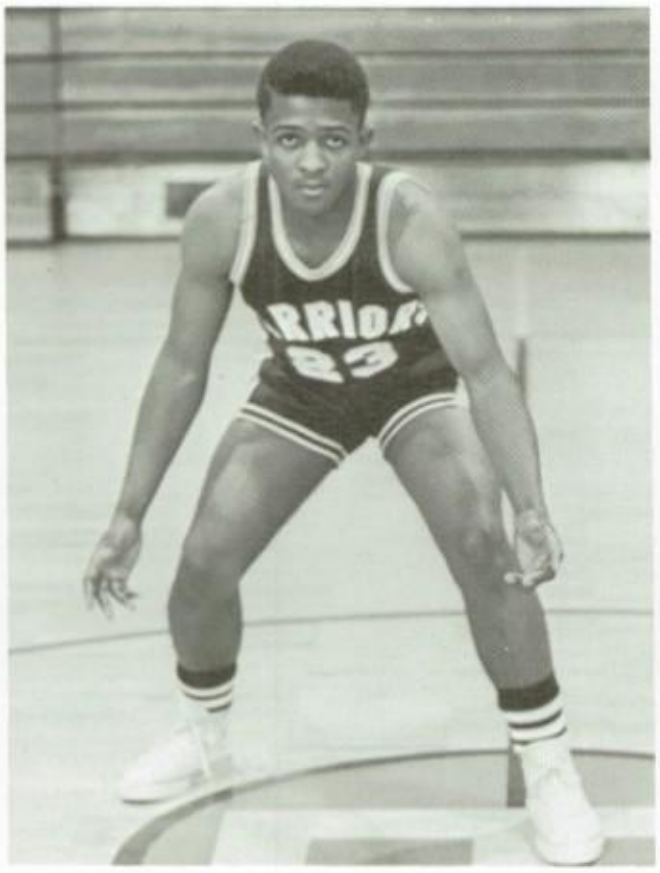




TERRY McGILL was a valuable sixth man for the Warriors as he contributed greatly in several victories. In his limited appearances he managed 75 points and a 46% field goal average. McGill's acquired experience will be an asset to the Warriors next year.

Ward, Goodrick, McGill

LARRY COZART was also a valuable cog in the Warrior machine as his cool head and nifty ball-handling sealed away many a Warrior victory. Cozart was superb at the foul line where he hit 86% of his attempts. Larry finished the regulation season of play with 40 points.



are returning lettermen

The 1967 golf team posted a 4-10 record. The Warriors competed in the Steel Valley League and played their home matches at Yankee Run Golf Course. The team played on wet and muddy courses throughout the golf season which hampered their play. Returning lettermen are Gary McMullin, John Agnone, and Paul Bender.

COACH "BRUTZ" LUNICH

Now a freshman education major at Anderson College, Anderson, Indiana, 1966 queen Doris Sereday (right) wore a lavender and pink plaid suit complimented by lavender carnations. Doris is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Sereday. Charming in a white wool suit, stylish with its new longer jacket and olive green accessories, Queen Linda (below) completed her outfit with olive green carnations accented in gold. The queen's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Sam Palumbo. Linda is active in the Pep and Commercial Clubs and Future Homemakers. Sue Strimbu is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Strimbu and is a member of the Pep Club, Commercial Club, Future Homemakers, Future Teachers, and the chorus. To the game Sue wore a burnt orange and navy plaid double-breasted suit, accented with navy accessories and an arm bouquet of yellow carnations.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Reinhart, Suzann is secretary of both the senior class and the Student Council and holds membership in the Pep Club and Commercial Club. To the game Suzann wore an aqua and olive green plaid wool suit, stylish with its mandarin neckline, A-line skirt, and turtle neck shell and accented with brown accessories and an arm bouquet of aqua carnations. Stunning in a multi-plaid suit of tones of gold, purple, orange, and green, Karen Brake's ensemble for the game was highlighted with gold accessories and a bouquet of gold carnations. Karen, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Brake, is a member of Student Council, Future Teachers, and the Beta and Latin Clubs.

Carrying lime green carnations, Joyce Reinhart was striking in a navy blue and lime green plaid double-breasted suit complemented by harmonizing accessories. Serving as this year's assistant head majorette, Joyce, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Reinhart, is also active in Future Teachers and Future Nurses, Pep Club, the mixed chorus, and Top 30. Joyce was also Brookfield's representative at 1967 Buckeye Girls' State.

NICK LEFTHERIS and LINDA PALUMBO

Linda Palumbo voted 1967 gridiron queen

With the placing of the traditional crown, a gift from the attendants to their queen, the band saluted these lovely young ladies with "Miss America."

From the crisp cool scene of the gridiron to the beautifully decorated gymnasium of Brookfield High School, the homecoming weekend was a most memorable occasion. All had eagerly awaited the presentation of the regal queen, Linda Palumbo and her four attendants—Sue Strimbu, Suzann Reinhart, Karen Brake, and Joyce Reinhart—and their handsome and proud escorts, all members of the great Warrior football squad.

The four attendants were dressed in full length crepe gowns with the yokes and three-quarter length sleeves of dyed-to-match velvet. The bodices were encircled with crepe daisies accented with velvet, and the gowns were further complimented with detachable watteau trains. Each girl carried a colonial bouquet of mums and contrasting daisies.

Formal dance concludes annual autumn weekend

After the team captain presented to Linda the traditional pigskin and the equally traditional kiss, the Nick Dunch Band played "Twilight Time," especially for the queen and her court and their escorts. After the first dance all were invited to join them on the dance floor. No one who attended will ever forget that most memorable and enjoyable evening!

Brookfield lost the game to Austintown Fitch by a score of 42-6, but the spirit was high as was the appreciation for Queen Linda and her court.

We're number one

Peppy cheerleaders arouse school spirit

Brookfield High School can be proud of its cheerleaders, for they arouse the spirit of the entire school. They are always busy practicing, planning pep rallies, and making up new cheers. They deserve special recognition for the encouragement they gave to the student body during WHOT's School Spirit Contest. No one will ever forget signing the many thousands of petitions that were passed around the school!

Everybody loves a graduate . . . and you know why? You're so exuberant! At no other time do we find such vitality, such free thinking, such hopeful ambition! Please don't lose it . . . these things, mingled with a little quiet understanding that things don't always turn out the way you want them, can make you something special! It's what this "tired old world" needs . . . that vitality of spirit that lifts everyone along with it . . . paves the way for independent, intelligent thinking, instead of doing things the way they've always been done. We don't mean by this that you drive through every road block along the way . . . just that you remember not to stop . . . you can still drive around it! So keep giving it, graduate . . . vitality . . . everybody loves it!

Hurrah for the Class of 1968

Born into one of history's most exciting and excited periods . . . better educated, more aware, more challenged than any class that has gone before . . . and facing years of exploration and discovery in all the arts and sciences beyond anything we have yet imagined. It's going to be difficult for you to keep your head in the stars AND your feet on the ground, but the world needs THAT kind of imagination combined with practicality more than it ever has before.
Will you rise to the occasion?
Only you can answer that!

A year full of memories recorded in the most intricate designs—that is what the 1968 ECHO is.

We would like to say a very special "thank you" to all those who helped to compile this yearbook:

The photographers from Rembrandt Studios—Jack Merle, Ray LaPorte, and Mickey Mudrey.

The Taylor Publishing Company and particularly Matt McCormick and Jerry Elmore.

The many patrons and advertisers.

And you, Brookfield High School student or staff member, for you are an integral part of this story.

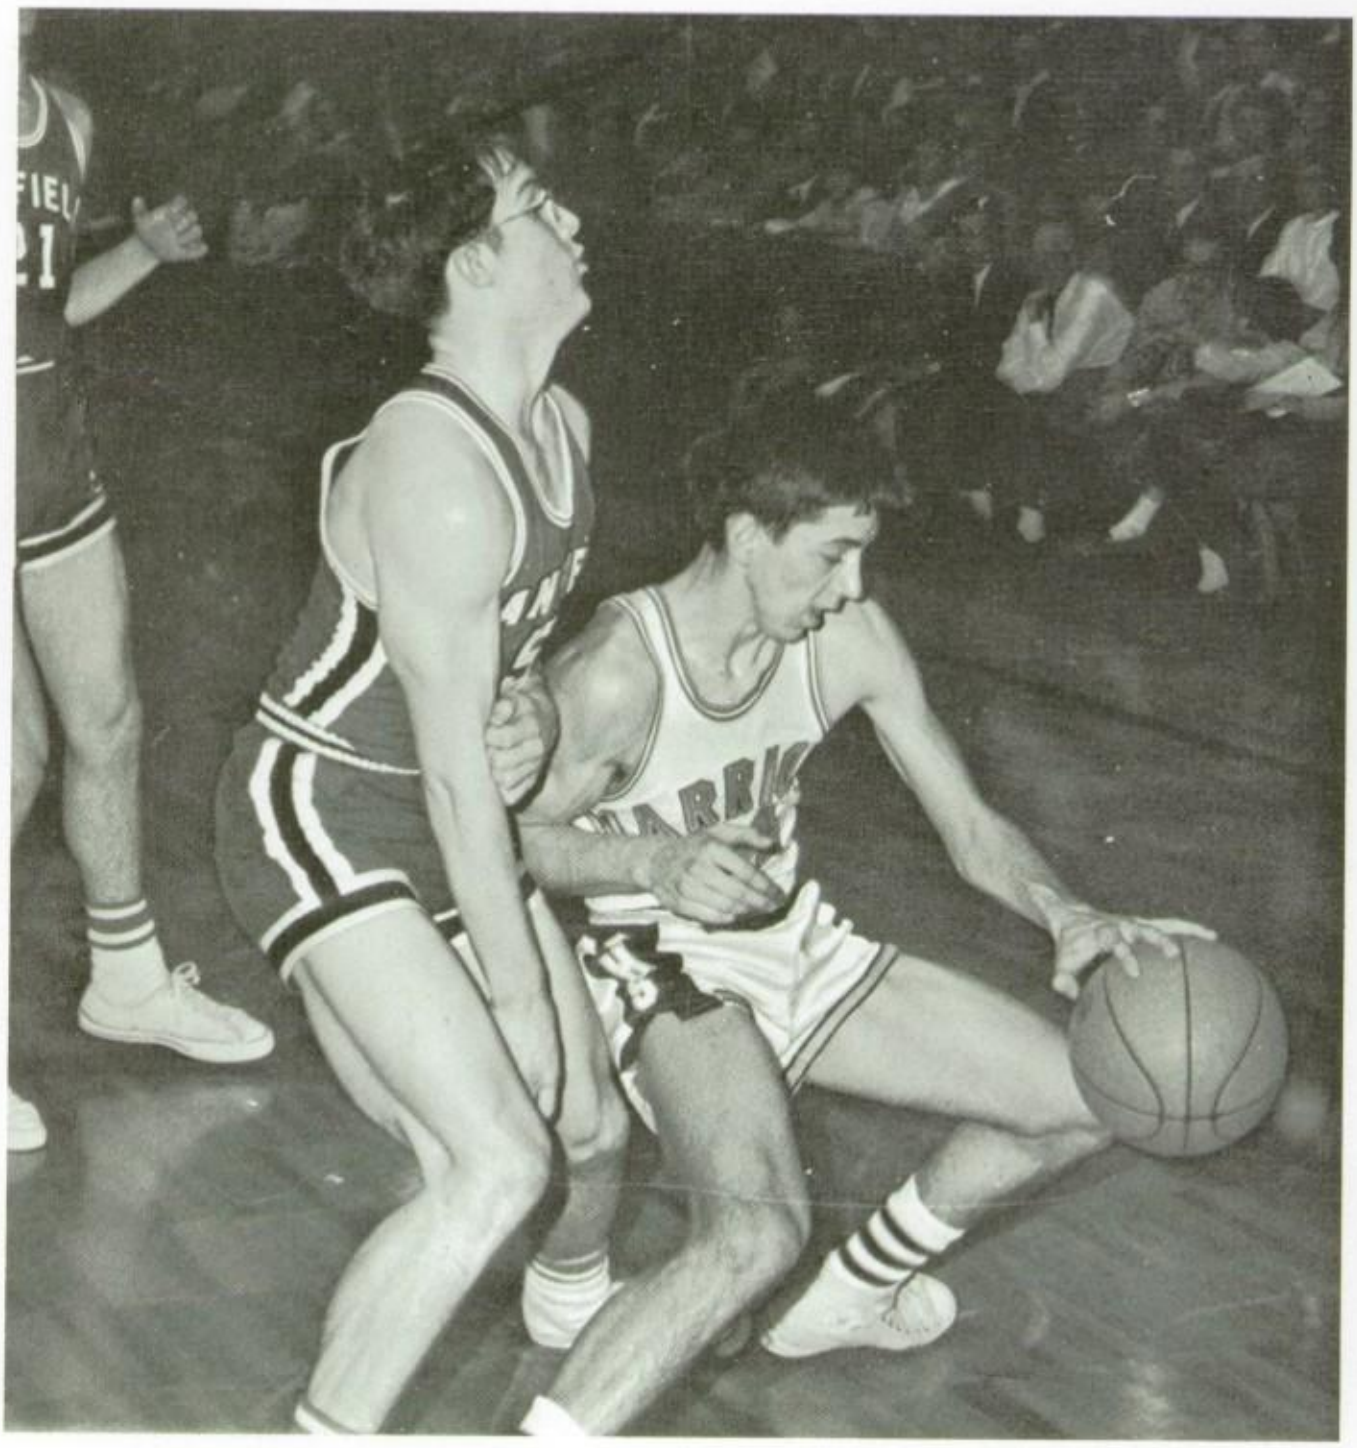
Warriors triumph over

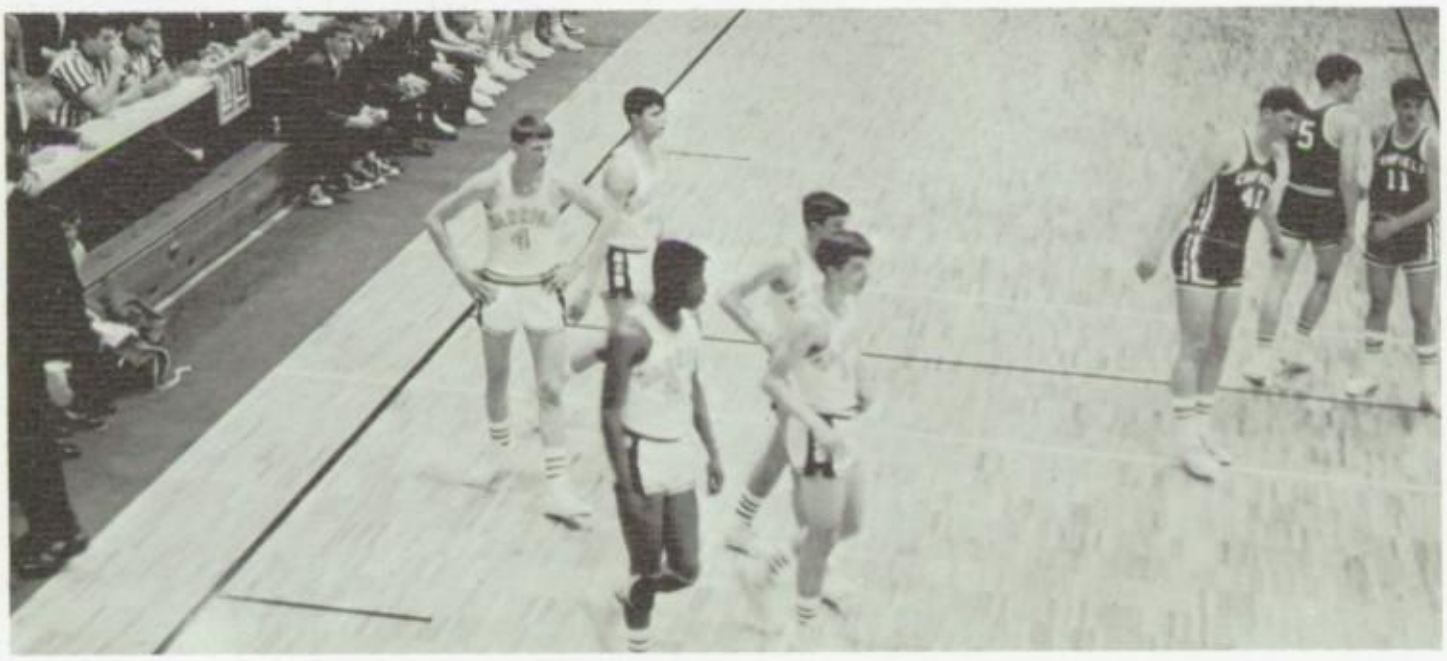
The Warriors finished the season with 21 victories as against only one setback, which was suffered at the hands of Hubbard, a team the Warriors had beaten twice during the regular season.

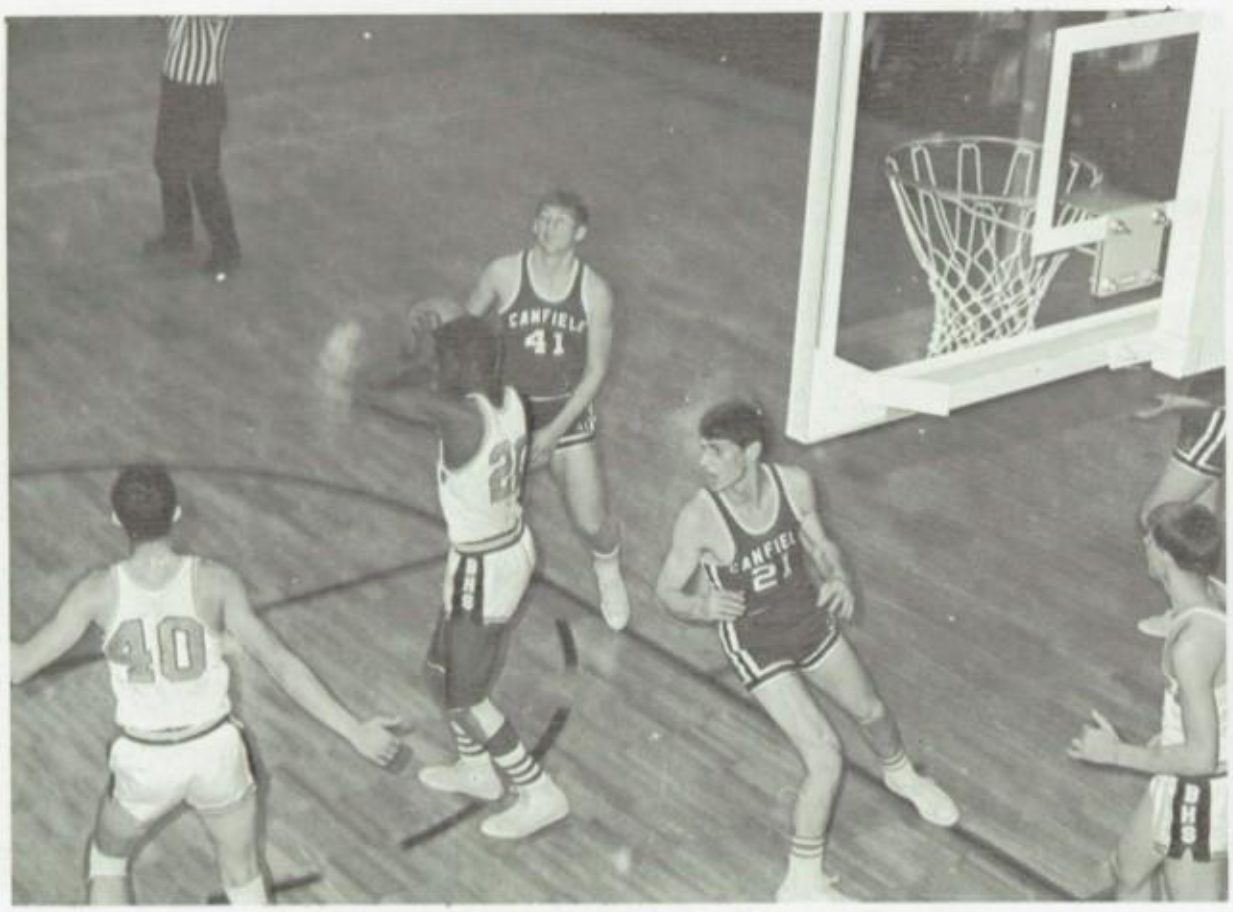
In tourney action the Warriors breezed past Canfield 76-52, Howland 67-58, and Struthers 61-53, before succumbing to Hubbard 65-55 in the District Finals at South Field House, Youngstown.

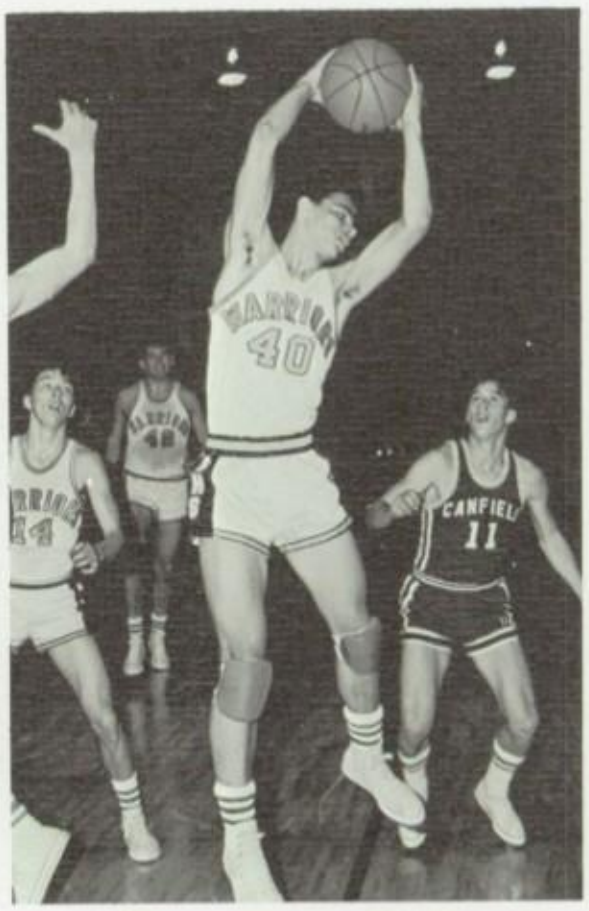


Canfield, Howland and Struthers

In first round action the Warriors drew a bye, and Canfield found the hungry Warriors more than they could handle as Rust tallied 33 points, followed by Goodrick's 15 and Brenner's 13 which smothered the Cardinals, 76-52.

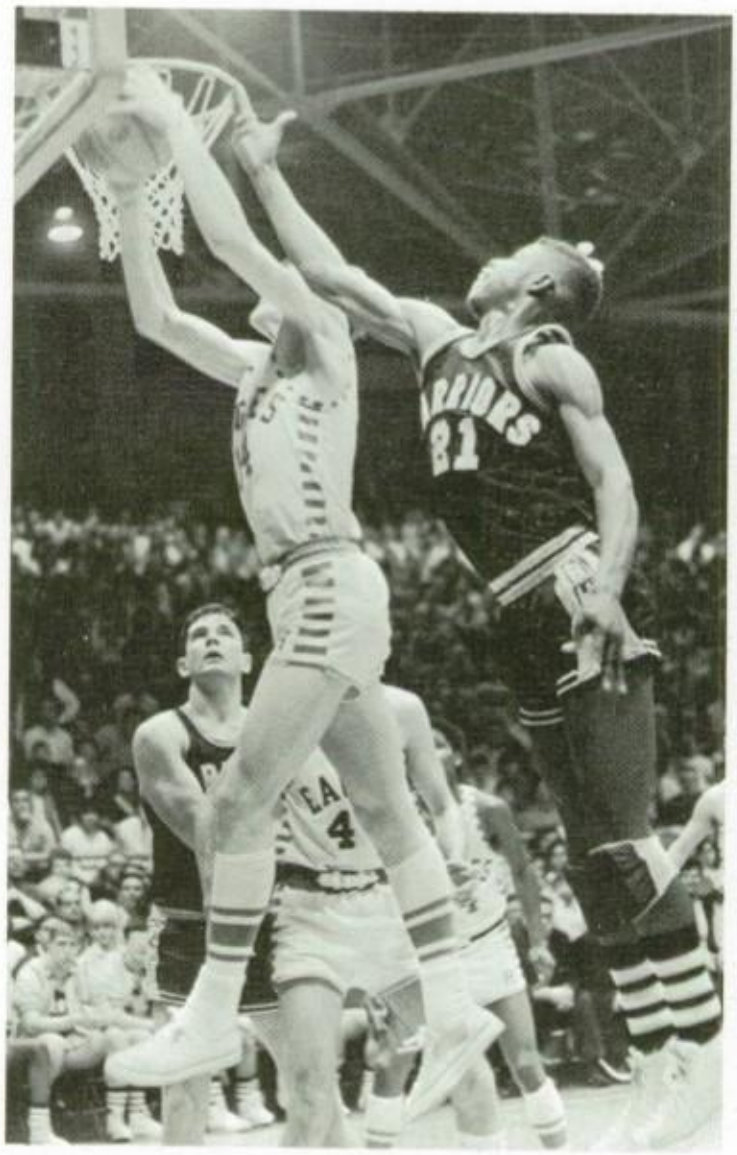


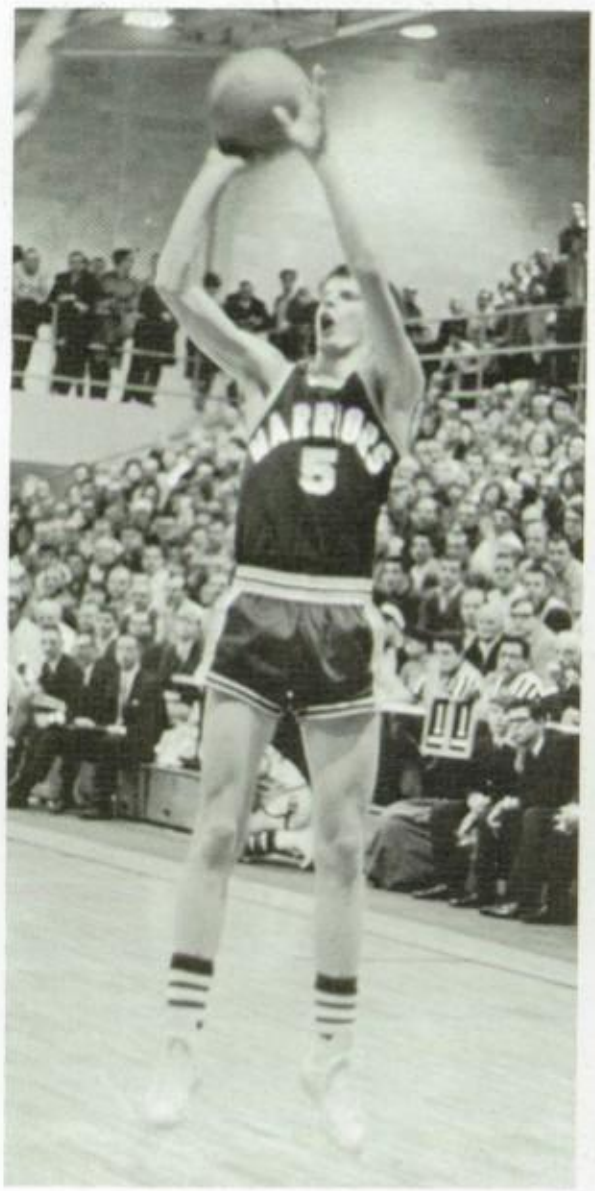




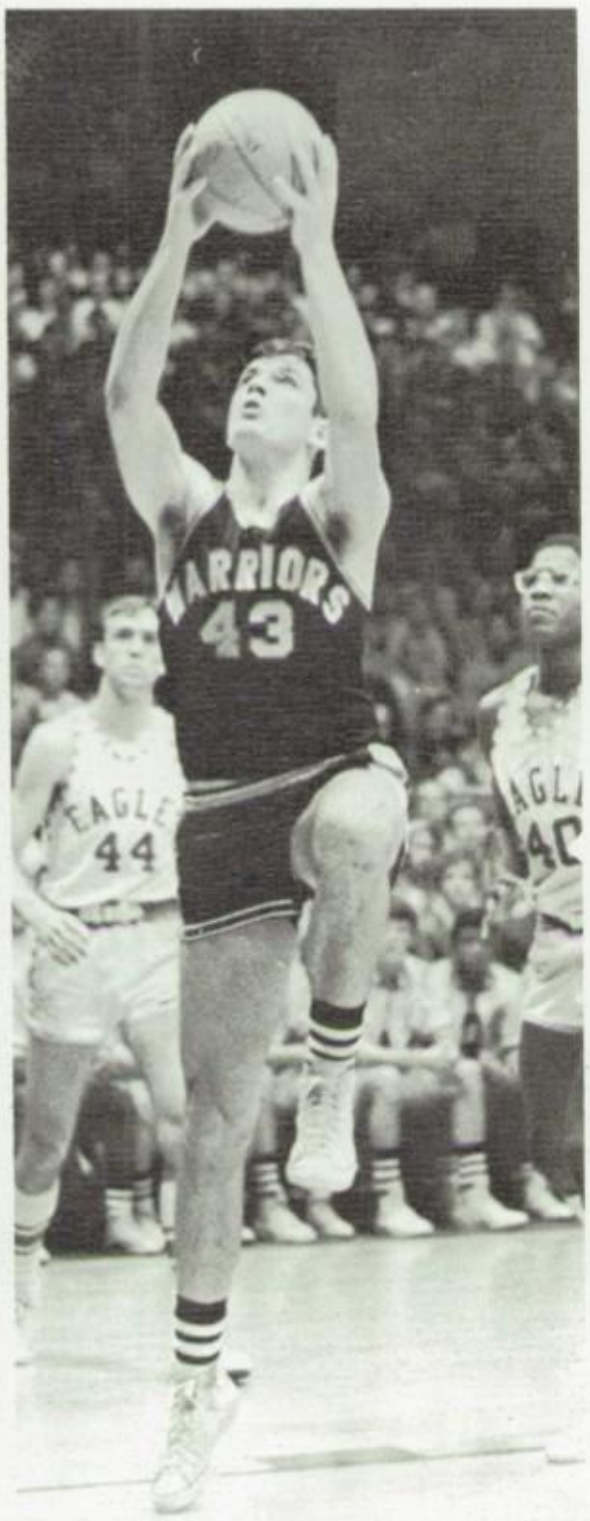
Warriors remain

On March 2 the Warriors met the Howland Tigers in the Sectional Finals and walked off with a well-deserved 67-58 victory. Rust, Rescek, and Brenner paced the Warrior victory with 23, 21, and 17 points respectively.





sectional champs



South Field House was the scene for the Warriors next and last victory of the year over the Struthers Wildcats in the District Semi-finals. The R and R boys led the way to victory once again as Rust contributed 26 points and Rescek 13 in the team's 61-53 win.

The victory over Struthers and Hubbard's win over South in the semis set the stage for the third meeting of the year (the Warriors won the other two) between our Warriors and the Hubbard Eagles.

Warriors finish tourney district runner-up

The Warriors fell behind the Eagles early, and at the end of the first quarter we were on the short end of a 17 to 7 score.

Mainly through the efforts of Goodrick and Brenner the Warriors pulled ahead momentarily in the second period, and at the half the Warriors were within one at 28-27. Hubbard got tough in the third period and pulled ahead by 5 at the end of the period, 43-38. In the final quarter the Eagles executed a beautiful freeze and won, going away 65-55.
